POST-MSW GRADUATE TRAINING FELLOWSHIP

The Yale Child Study Center is pleased to offer a newly designed one-year Post-MSW Graduate Training Fellowship to begin in July 1, 2008. The mission of this training program is to advance practice competency, professionalism, and leadership in the field of clinical social work. The Child Study Center is a multi-disciplinary department in the Yale School of Medicine that provides training, clinical services for children and families, and conducts research in child psychiatry and related disciplines. Social work fellows will participate in both multi-disciplinary and discipline specific training, which will include didactics, observation of senior clinicians, intensive supervision, and direct practice. Direct practice will occur in either the outpatient or in-home clinical program (<http://childstudycenter.yale.edu>).

Additional training opportunities will extend into the young child, trauma, anxiety, inpatient, and autism and developmental disabilities within clinical programs as scheduling and individual fellow's interests permit.

A stipend of $25,000 will be provided. Comprehensive health care through the Yale Health Plan is available at no charge. Housing and transportation are not provided.

Application form for the Yale Child Study Center's Post-MSW Graduate Training Fellowship for July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2009 is available on PDF format (attached). Applications are due and must be post marked by January 21, 2008. Late applications will not be accepted. If you have any inquiries, please direct your questions to Ms. Serra at rosemary.serra@yale.edu.
